AN APP
FOR THAT

Black History Month Resources for Teachers and Students

- Looking for resources and lesson tools click the link above.

Class Needs Request Form

- Need laptops for the classroom, books to use with an upcoming lesson, a Pathfinder for a student project, or a mini workshop done related to research and citation? Make your request known. The library is your partner in connecting with students to raise student learning and achievement.

New Reading Forms for Fiction and Nonfiction Student Reading

- Are your students reading? We are using a digitized version of the "Golden Reading Ticket" now. Click the link above for access. Now students who have access to technology can fill one out at any time day or night.

Periodicals and Magazines Subscriptions

- New subscriptions to assist you in connecting to trends and information within your disciplines may have been ordered. Click the link in the next week to find out what's on the way.

Tumblebooks in the Classroom

- Tons of e-books are available at the click of a button for students with varying abilities. Some books have audio and cool graphics that bring the story alive. Tumblebooks connect students with storybooks, nonfiction texts, graphic novels, and more. In the coming week the link will be tailored to our school and students will be able to take quizzes on books that they read.

Using Digital Tools for Student Research

- Using reliable sources to seek out information is one of the standards by which are students are being assessed. Do you have an upcoming research project or activity? I would love to partner with you to provide lessons on how to use databases to find, utilize, and cite information on a related topic. Developing skills and knowledge in this area can benefit our students in the years to come.

TAC Issues

- Are you having any issues with TAC? If you are contact me in the library or call 850-2017.

Laptops

- Borrowing a cart? Please don't forget to return them in their assigned slots to charge. Carts need to be returned to the library before school ends.
